Dear Jeff Leigh and Julie Facchin:

Re: Thank You

Thank you for your letter of December 8, 2020, congratulating me on my re-election as MLA for North Vancouver-Lonsdale and my appointment as Minister of State for Infrastructure.

As I transition into my new role, I continue to gain a broader perspective of the many ways the COVID-19 pandemic has impacted the lives of British Columbians across B.C. Our province's transportation sector serves a critical role in ensuring the continuous flow of essential goods and making sure people can safely and reliably get to where they need to be. The priorities we have set out for the months and years ahead will be vital to supporting all facets of our transportation network and the overall economic strength and vitality of our province.

I appreciate your organization's commitment to making cycling safer and more accessible for communities by advocating for improved active transportation and cycling network connectivity. While I know that these are difficult times for everyone, it is a privilege to have the opportunity to work with First Nations, community leaders and stakeholders like you to advance the key infrastructure projects British Columbians rely on.

Thank you again for taking the time to write.

Sincerely,
