We're hosting a HUB workshop, and we hope you can come.

With the region's mayors ready to present their transportation and funding plan, and attention on the upcoming referendum, this is a very important time to clearly communicate the importance of a connected cycling network across the region. Currently there are significant gaps in an adequate cycling network so that people can safely, comfortably cycle to major destinations in Metro Vancouver.

As HUB committees you are working to address these gaps all the time, but we don't have a unified visual record of them, and our highest priority route requests. A map showing our vision of a connected regional cycling network will be a powerful tool to use when working with staff, decision-makers and the general public to engage them in HUB membership and committees.

We invite all HUB local committee members to attend this June workshop to help us create a compelling visual story of how incomplete the network currently is, and what areas to focus on first. Please share this invite out to your committee listservs or any other ways you communicate with committee members.

We'd like to have the best possible attendance and representation from different committees, so please indicate your availability for Monday June 16 and Wed June 18 here in this doodle scheduling poll so we can set the date that works for most.

You are also welcome to submit your ideas in advance by email if you aren't able to make it. If you would like to call in to the meeting, please let me know.
