

sməq^waʔ xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

Presentation slides

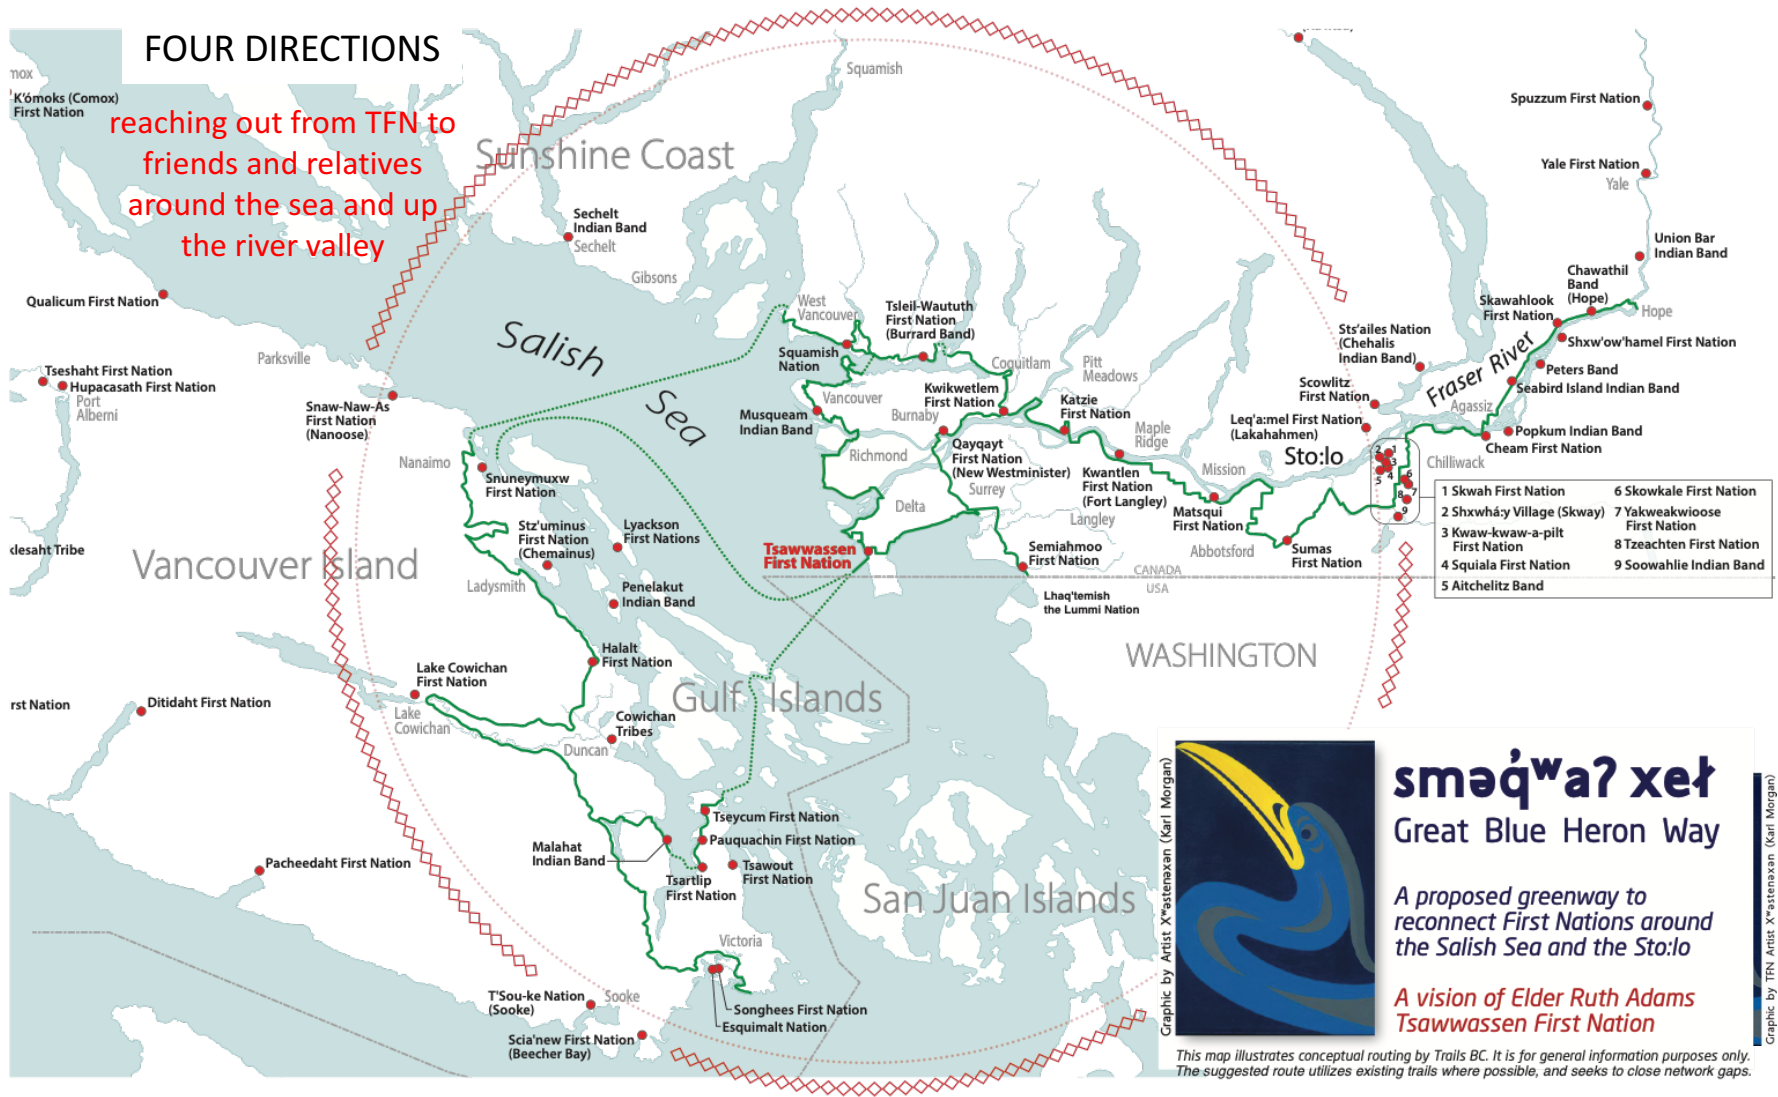

Elder x^wasteniya (Ruth Mary Adams) Tsawwassen First Nation – GBHW Team Lead
Sage Flett-Kruger — Okanagan Nation, Trails BC Indigenous Engagement Manager, Contact

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastanaxən (Karl Morgan)

FOUR DIRECTIONS

reaching out from TFN to friends and relatives around the sea and up the river valley

sməqʷa? xeł
Great Blue Heron Way

A proposed greenway to reconnect First Nations around the Salish Sea and the Sto:lo

A vision of Elder Ruth Adams Tsawwassen First Nation

This map illustrates conceptual routing by Trails BC. It is for general information purposes only. The suggested route utilizes existing trails where possible, and seeks to close network gaps.

Graphic by TFN Artist X'asteneaxen (Karl Morgan)

sməqʷaʔ xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

TRAIL BENEFITS

This ALL-AGES, MULTI-USE GREENWAY PATH contributes to:

- Climate change action.
- Nature regeneration and sustainability.
- Education and cultural awareness of Indigenous peoples.
- Equal access to safe active travel and economic possibilities.
- Health and well-being of those who live and work along the path.
- Reconciliation.

At the TFN Youth Job Fair

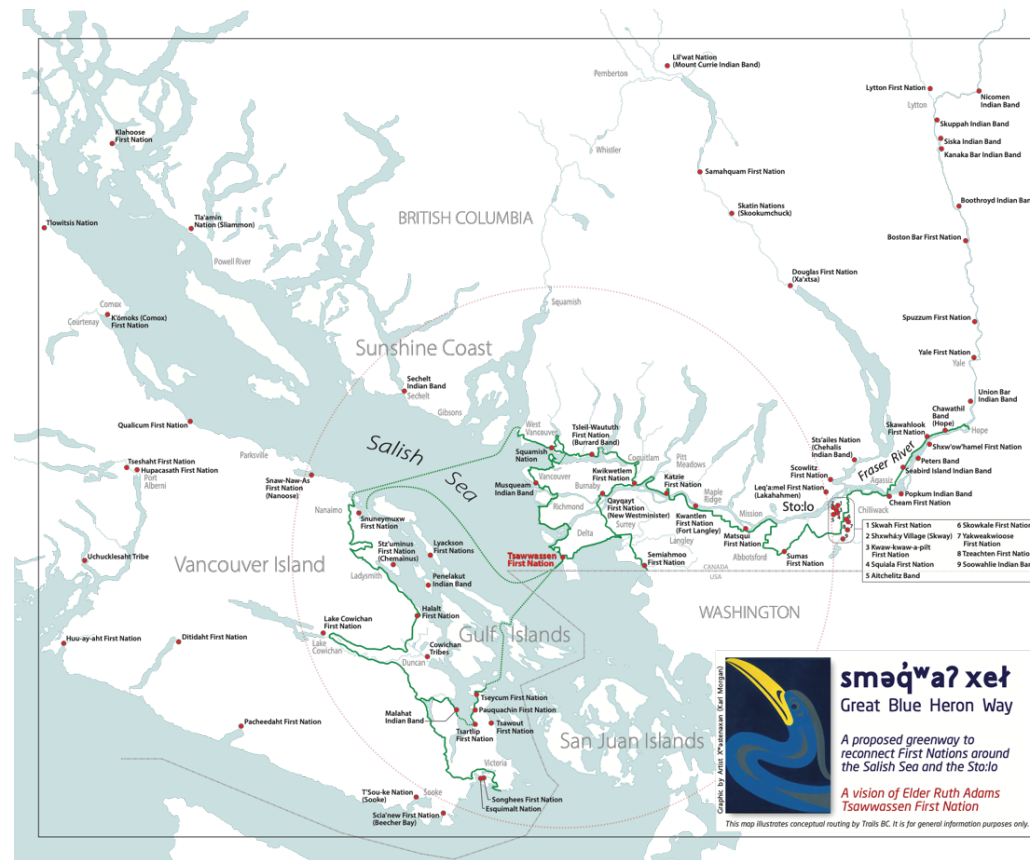

Elder Ruth, Maryanne (TFN Council), and Amy (TFN member and Trails BC staff person)

sməqʷaʔ xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

RECONNECTION

- This pathway reconnects First Nations as they once were, across land and water.
- The Great Blue Heron Way invites First Nation communities to be involved as far as they wish to be.
- This pathway will honour each and every Traditional Territory.
- It is a Way of healing and reconciliation.
- The suggested route utilizes existing greenways where possible, and seeks to close network gaps.

At the TFN member beach park, on the 'land facing the sea'

sməq^waʔ xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

WELCOME SIGNAGE

Signs were erected on TFN lands in summer 2023.

These welcome signs tell the Vision story and officially put the Great Blue Heron Way on the map in BC.

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastnaxan (Karl Morgan)

sməq^wa? xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

ELDERS AND YOUTH

TFN Summer Youth Program - 2022 on TFN, and 2023 at Boundary Bay

- This greenway trail enables language and cultural to be shared with residents and travellers.
- Indigenous youth are sharing their ideas to make this trail their own, and actively exploring local areas for the first time.
- The Youth would like to connect with other Nations and communities.

sməq^wa? xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

ENGAGEMENT

A GBHW presentation was made, by Grandmother and Granddaughter, to Tsleil-Waututh Chief and Council in June 2023

On the Great Blue Heron Way at TFN with Squamish Nation members and GBHW volunteer team members, 2021

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastnaxan (Kari Morgan)

sməq^waʔ xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

SALISH SEA GREENWAY SOUTH

At Mud Bay— part of the Salish Sea greenway

GBHW team members tour and Nicomekl Riverfront Park input, summer 2023.

sməq^waʔ xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

GATHERING FRIENDS

Inclusive Active Transportation panelists, 2019.

Regional GBHW presentations have taken place at:

- BC Active Transportation Summit, New Westminster 2019
- Trails BC Inclusive Active Travel Symposium, 2022
- The Planning Institute of BC, 2022

Local GBHW presentations have taken place at:

- City of Delta and City of Richmond council committees
- HUB Cycling and TRAC Sunshine Coast bike committees
- Port of Vancouver Community Liaison Committee
- Global Container Terminals
- TFN Chief and Executive Council, 2020
- Squamish Nation staff committee, 2023
- Tsleil-Waututh Chief and Council, 2023

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastnaxan (Karl Morgan)

sməq^wa? xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

CONTINUING TO GATHER FRIENDS

The GBHW Volunteer Team in 2023

- TFN Members
Elder Ruth Adams, Jesseca Adams, Karl Morgan
- Trails BC Board and staff
Sage Flett-Kruger - Okanagan Nation,
Amy Lachance - TFN,
Léon LeBrun, Richard Campbell
- HUB Cycling
Roel Schootman, Sandra Jones, Sheryl Atkinson
- Infrastructure advisor
David Grigg
- Further advisors
Carol Vignale, Anne Marie Goodfellow

Start of bike tour, with Trails BC and HUB Cycling.

Working closely with supporting organizations

Tsawwassen First Nation, Safe Active Travel Delta • Tsawwassen First Nation

City of Delta Mayor and Council, City of Richmond Active Travel, City of Surrey Culture and Heritage

Metro Vancouver Parks, The Fraser River Tunnel Project, Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure

Destination BC

MP Carla Qualtrough and more

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastnaxan (Karl Morgan)

sməq^wa? xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

MAJOR TRAIL GAPS AT TFN

THE DELTAPORT RAILWAY BARRIER

Closed to all trail users in 2016.

GBHW team members with supporters, Global Container Terminals

THE HIGHWAY 17 BARRIER

Severing TFN and the beach front trail since the 1960's.

GBHW team members at the Hwy 17 pullout by the BC Ferries causeway

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastnaxan (Karl Morgan)

sməq^wa? xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

A significant project for the Trails Society of BC.

Léon Lebrun (Trails BC) and Elder Ruth Adams at TFN National Truth and Reconciliation Day

Sage and Richard of Trails BC at Tsawwassen First Nation Youth Centre with Elder Ruth Adams

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastanaxən (Karl Morgan)

sməq^wa? xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

- The Trails Society of BC was formed to oversee the completion of the Trans Canada Trail (TCT) in BC.
- The Trails Society of BC has expanded to:
 1. Incorporate other trail connection needs across BC
 2. Explore a southern route for the TCT from Langley through Tsawwassen to Vancouver Island
 3. Support and assist Indigenous inclusion and trail projects
 4. Have Indigenous staff and board members
- For The Great Blue Heron Way:
 1. Hosts public website information and maps routes
 2. As a not-for-profit with charity status, applies for grants
 3. Has a mission and mandate that eventually puts the GBHW project under Indigenous control

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastanaxan (Karl Morgan)

sməq^wa? xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

QUESTIONS?

Visit <https://trailsbc.ca/the-great-blue-heron-way-vision-gbhw/>

hay čx^w qə

Thank you!

On the Great Blue Heron Way Boardwalk. Looking southwest towards Tsawwassen Bluffs, site of the Great Blue Heron rookery at Tsawwassen First Nation.

Graphic by TFN Artist X^wastnaxan (Kari Morgan)

sməq^wa? xet - The Great Blue Heron Way

VISION STATEMENT

“Recognition and acknowledgement of First Nation Traditional Territories is sacred to the Ancestors and youth today. The Great Blue Heron Way honours the people and their land past and present. By presenting these important landmarks for the history of Canada.

The Great Blue Heron Way is a journey where people can safely enjoy the nature of lands and waters. The spirit of this path connects the people along the way, where friendships can grow naturally.

The Great Blue Heron Way is the vision of Respected Tsawwassen Elder x^wasteniya (Ruth Mary Adams). There are many hardworking friends who believe in this spiritual path that honours traditional territories and their people, past and present.

The Great Blue Heron Way honours the traditional territories of the Tsawwassen First Nation people. The path will honour each and every traditional territory that it connects with along the way.”

